

THE COLLAPSIBLE MAMMALS

The Collapsible Mammals formed in 2006 by longtime musician and DJ Chris Avitabile after years of collecting sounds, instruments, and many records. Inspired by travel, eating interesting dishes in various international locales, and his musical collaborations with close friends, a collection of seemingly soundtrack like; instrumental(ish); get in the car and drive to an undisclosed location type musical creations starting flourishing. There was only one more logical step—create a record!

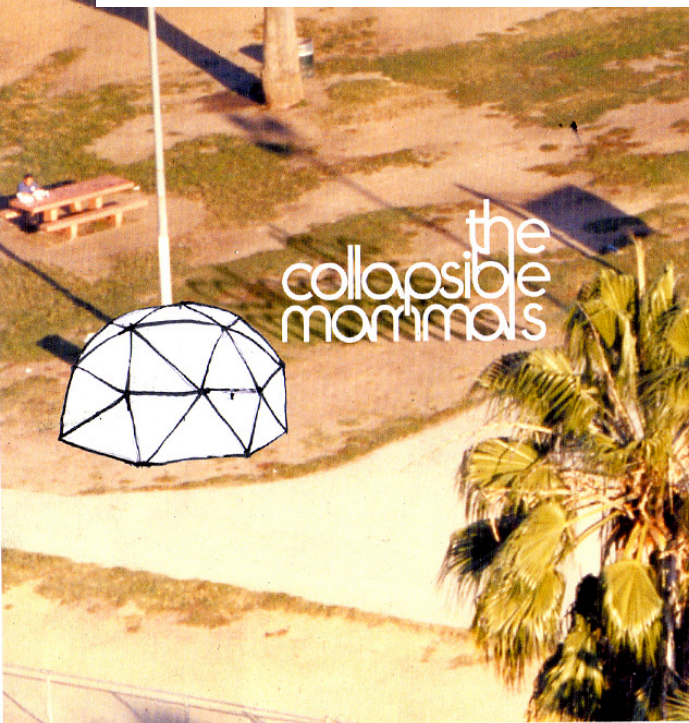

The Collapsible Mammals debut album (self-titled) is set to be released on November 20th, 2007. Essentially it is a collection of songs loosely based on a fictional land called "New Zambia." It embraces the Mammal's longtime love for instrumental downtempo and hip hop, while exploring other dimensions of sounds. From experimental fuzz noise, to old school funk grooves, to beautiful guitar licks— your pallet will be kept wet for many days to come.
